

Other Ways to Give to the FNIH

In addition to online donations and gifts by mail, there are many other great ways to give to the FNIH and support the mission of the NIH and biomedical research

1

Purchase Untethered: A Caregiver's Tale

Phyllis Peters is generously donating a portion of the purchase price of her book, Untethered: A Caregiver's Tale, to support the research project in Alzheimer's disease of the Accelerating Medicines Partnership. If you would like to donate profits from the sale of your own literary or other work, please let us know.

Create Your Own Personal Fundraising Page

You can raise funds for the FNIH and support biomedical research through a run, walk or similar event. You can set up your personal fundraising page on the First Giving website and benefit the FNIH. Follow this link and click on the "Start Fundraising" button. Then you can request support for an existing event that benefits the FNIH or create your own.

Amazon Smile

Amazon Smile allows you to purchase from Amazon and the company will contribute a small percentage (0.5 percent) of the purchase to the FNIH. There is no additional cost to you. All items for purchase on Amazon are eligible for Amazon Smile. Click here for a step-by-step guide to getting started.

Give To FNIH Through Your Employer's Matching Gift Program

Your company may be one of the 1,500 that will match an employee's charitable contribution through the Employer Matching Gift Program. In some cases, an employer will match employee contributions dollar for dollar—and some even two to one—up to a designated maximum. If your company has such a program, please request a matching gift form from your employer and send it, completed and signed, with your gift to: FNIH, Matching Gifts Program, 9650 Rockville Pike, Bethesda, MD 20814. You may need to provide your employer with FNIH's tax ID, which is 52-1986675. For more information, please e-mail foundation@fnih.org or call (301) 402-5311.

Give To FNIH Through the Combined Federal Campaign

One of the simplest and most efficient ways to support the FNIH is by donating at work through payroll deductions. The Combined Federal Campaign (CFC) is the only authorized solicitation of federal employees in their workplaces on behalf of approved charitable organizations. The campaign coordinates the fundraising efforts of various charitable organizations so that federal donors are solicited only once in the workplace and may make charitable contributions through payroll deduction. NIH employees may give to the FNIH through the CFC using number 29165. In some regions of the country, United Way donors can designate the Foundation for the NIH as the recipient of their workplace giving. For more information, please contact FNIH at foundation@fnih.org or (301) 402-5311.
